Press Release

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

CCSI Launches a Premium DRaaS Solution

Bohemia, NY, April 3, 2017 – Contemporary Computer Services Inc. (CCSI), a leading technology services and solutions provider, launches Disaster Recovery as a Service (DRaaS). CCSI's latest Cloud Solution, provides insurance that during a disaster critical data is not lost and can be recovered quickly, reducing lost revenue and productivity.

After every storm there comes a rainbow, a sign of hope, calm, and a sign of time to recover. After a disaster strikes, you can trust CCSI will be your rainbow with our array of cloud solutions. Utilizing DRaaS, companies can implement scalable, flexible, secure disaster recovery without requiring changes to existing IT infrastructure and, because it's in the cloud, it is ready to bring you back on line immediately, whenever or wherever disaster strikes.

CCSI created one of the first cloud applications, eSchoolData, a K-12 student management system launched in 2001. When first launched, this type of service offering was called an Application Service Provider. This was the genesis from which cloud services was born. "CCSI's goal is to keep our clients focused on their business and customers, especially during a disaster where rapid response is critical" said John Riconda, CEO of CCSI. "With CCSI's latest cloud offering, clients will be comfortable knowing their business data is protected and can be recovered quickly, since it is hosted in the cloud."
