Guiding Your Organizations Through the Regulations of Today

Is your system secured to the meet all requirements?

We know many organizations are being held to high requirements based off their industry and the data they interact with. At CCSI, we work with clients across a broad spectrum of verticals that's given us a unique insight into these regulations and how best to advise our clients not only become compliant, but secure.

Utilizing the frameworks put in place by the governing bodies your organization is responsible to adhere to, we tailor each engagement as a custom evaluation of our client's environment to give them a personalized assessment of their security/privacy posture when it comes to the protection and compliance of their data and systems. These are the guiding principles we focus on with our customers during any assessment dealing with a regulation.

Throughout CCSI's compliance assessments we'll focus on how to comply with the regulation and validate records/systems being properly governed within the guidelines in place for security and privacy. We work as a partner and understand the scope of an assessment. Our experience in the field has helped us develop an understanding of what works and how to create a plan to reach your objectives, while staying compliant and secure.

With each regulation we take a phased approach to determine the scope, validate controls, deliver our findings and offer remediation assistance. We can work as a liaison to the auditors currently in your organization, preform gap analysis of previous findings, or perform audits ourselves.
